Ohio Development Services Agency Names 2013 Electric Partnership Program Providers

COLUMBUS – Improving the energy efficiency of low- to moderate-income houses can reduce the burden energy costs place on a household budget. In May, the Ohio Development Services Agency began accepting proposals for the Electric Partnership Program. As a result, the agency has identified 12 providers for the 2013 program year.

“We want to ensure our Electric Partnership Program customers receive the best customer service to improve the efficiency of their homes and reduce their energy costs,” said David Goodman, director of the Ohio Development Services Agency. “Increasing efficiency reduces costs and saves Ohio families money.”

The Electric Partnership Program is designed to improve the electric efficiency of low- to moderate-income households who participate in Percentage of Income Payment Plan. The program provides in-home audits and installs appropriate energy efficiency measures as well as consumer education.
